Parental Control ($9.99)
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Safe, General and Blocked lists of contacts.• Email communication with General-listed and unknown contacts is supervised. All emails to and from these contacts will be held in Quarantine box until parent will approve or reject the emails• Parents will receive a copy of quarantined emails sent to their email accounts. These emails can be approved/rejected from notification emails

Setting up

Initial setup is easy. When you open the Tocomail for Gmail app for the first time, it will show a Gmail Sign-in Page.

After signing in, app will load emails and contacts from child's Gmail account

The image displays three screenshots of the Tocomail app interface. The leftmost screenshot shows the Google sign-in page with fields for 'Email' and 'Password', a 'Sign in' button, and a 'Need help?' link. Below the sign-in fields are links for 'Create an account' and 'One Google Account for everything Google' with icons for various Google services. The middle screenshot shows the 'Mailbox' screen with a search bar, a 'Today' section containing a draft email from an iPod, and a 'This Month' section with a deleted email and a message from Nick. The rightmost screenshot shows the 'Contacts' screen with a search bar and a list of contacts including Shellie, Nick, Mom, Michael, Dad, and Aunt Julia, each with a profile picture and email address.

Mailbox

Mailbox is similar to other email clients. Unique functionality includes:

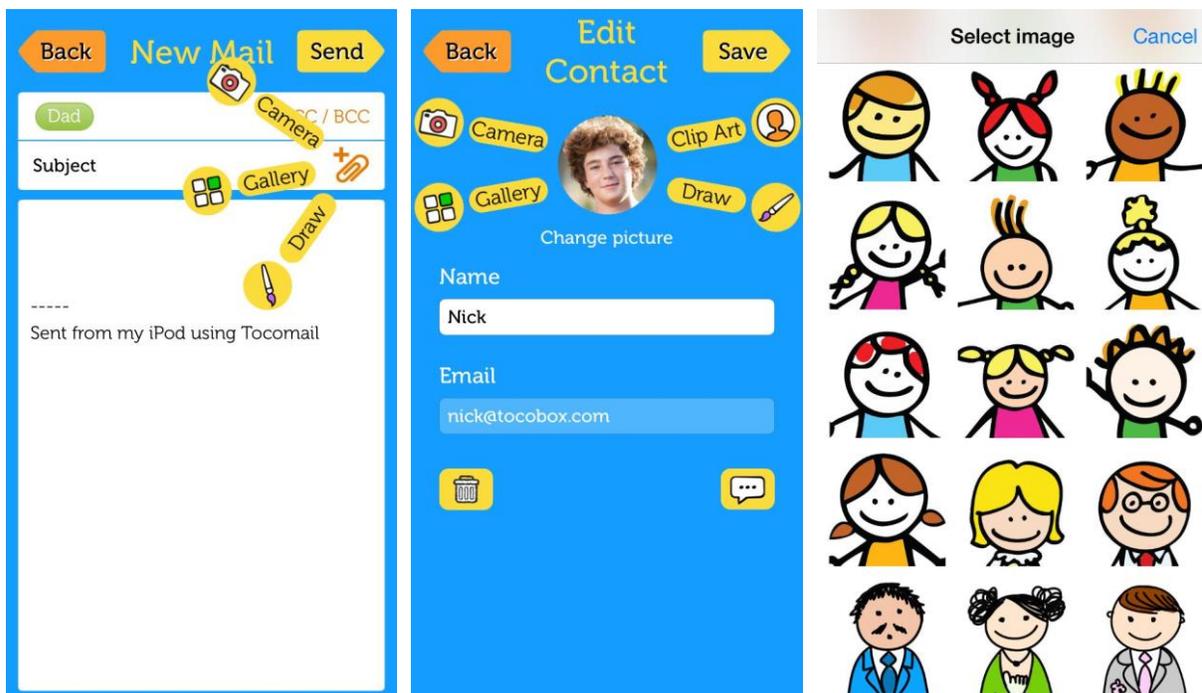

- Both sent and received emails are listed in Mailbox sorted by time
- Swipe left on the email item will delete it
- Shake will undo the last action in the Mailbox
- Tap on any avatar in Mailbox will open Messenger with the message thread with this contact
- Tap on any other point in the email item will open the email
- Tap icon in the upper left or swipe right to open contacts

Contacts

Similar to mailbox, tap on any avatar in the list of contacts will open Messenger with the message thread with this contact. Tap on any other point in the contact will open the edit contact dialog.

New Email

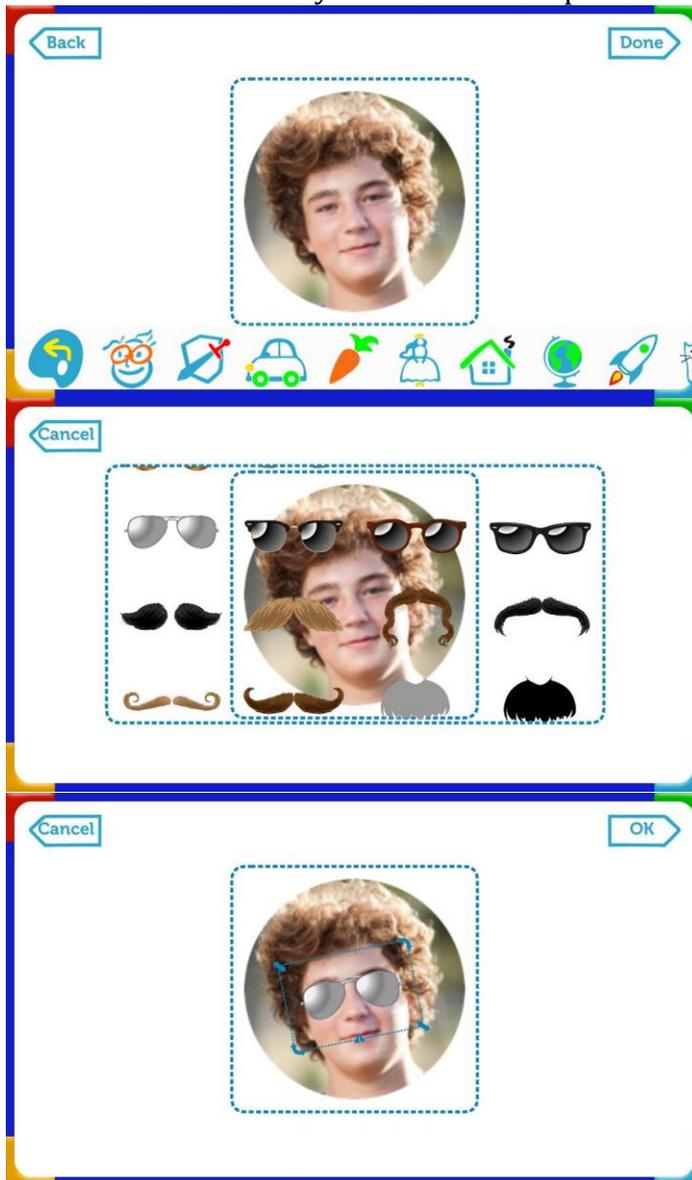

Drawing of attachments is the fun part of creating a new email.

Editing Avatars

Use fun clip art avatars (shown above) and/or drawing board (shown below) to create cool avatars for your contacts and profile.

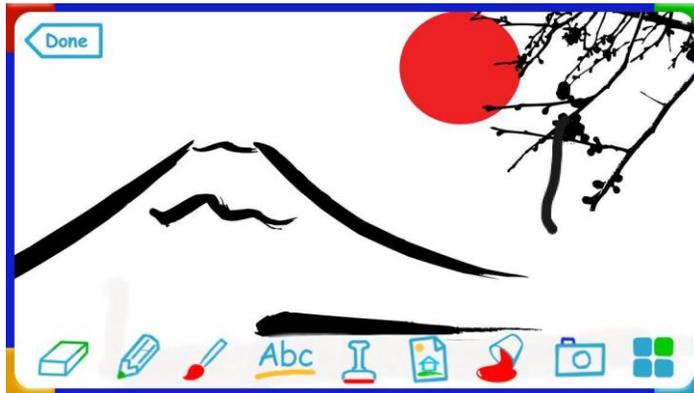

Messaging

Teens love texts these days. Tocomail for Gmail lets children not only send old-fashioned emails but also turn email account into a fun instant messenger.

Drawing board

Tocomail's drawing board is something that all kids will love.

We provide a variety of creative tools for kids in an easy-to-use interface:

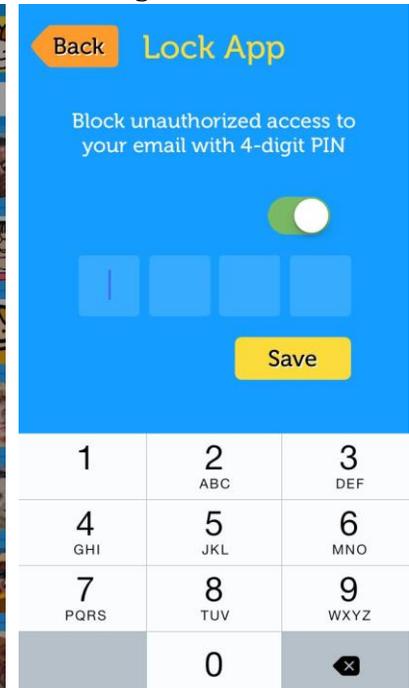

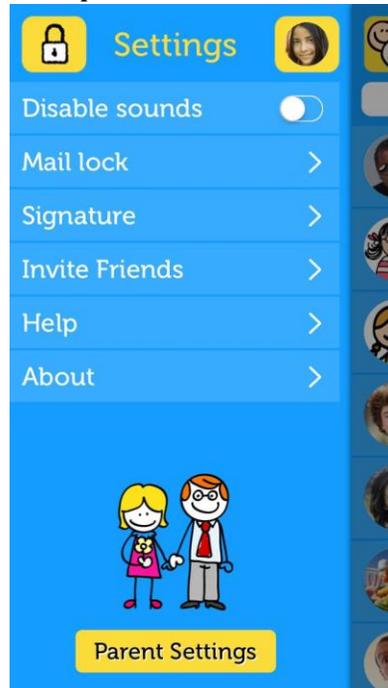

- Pencils
- Brushes
- Text entry
- Hundreds of stamps
- Hundreds of various backgrounds
- Color picker
- Background fill
- Camera and Gallery tools allow photos to be added to the drawing

Settings

On Settings screen, a child can:

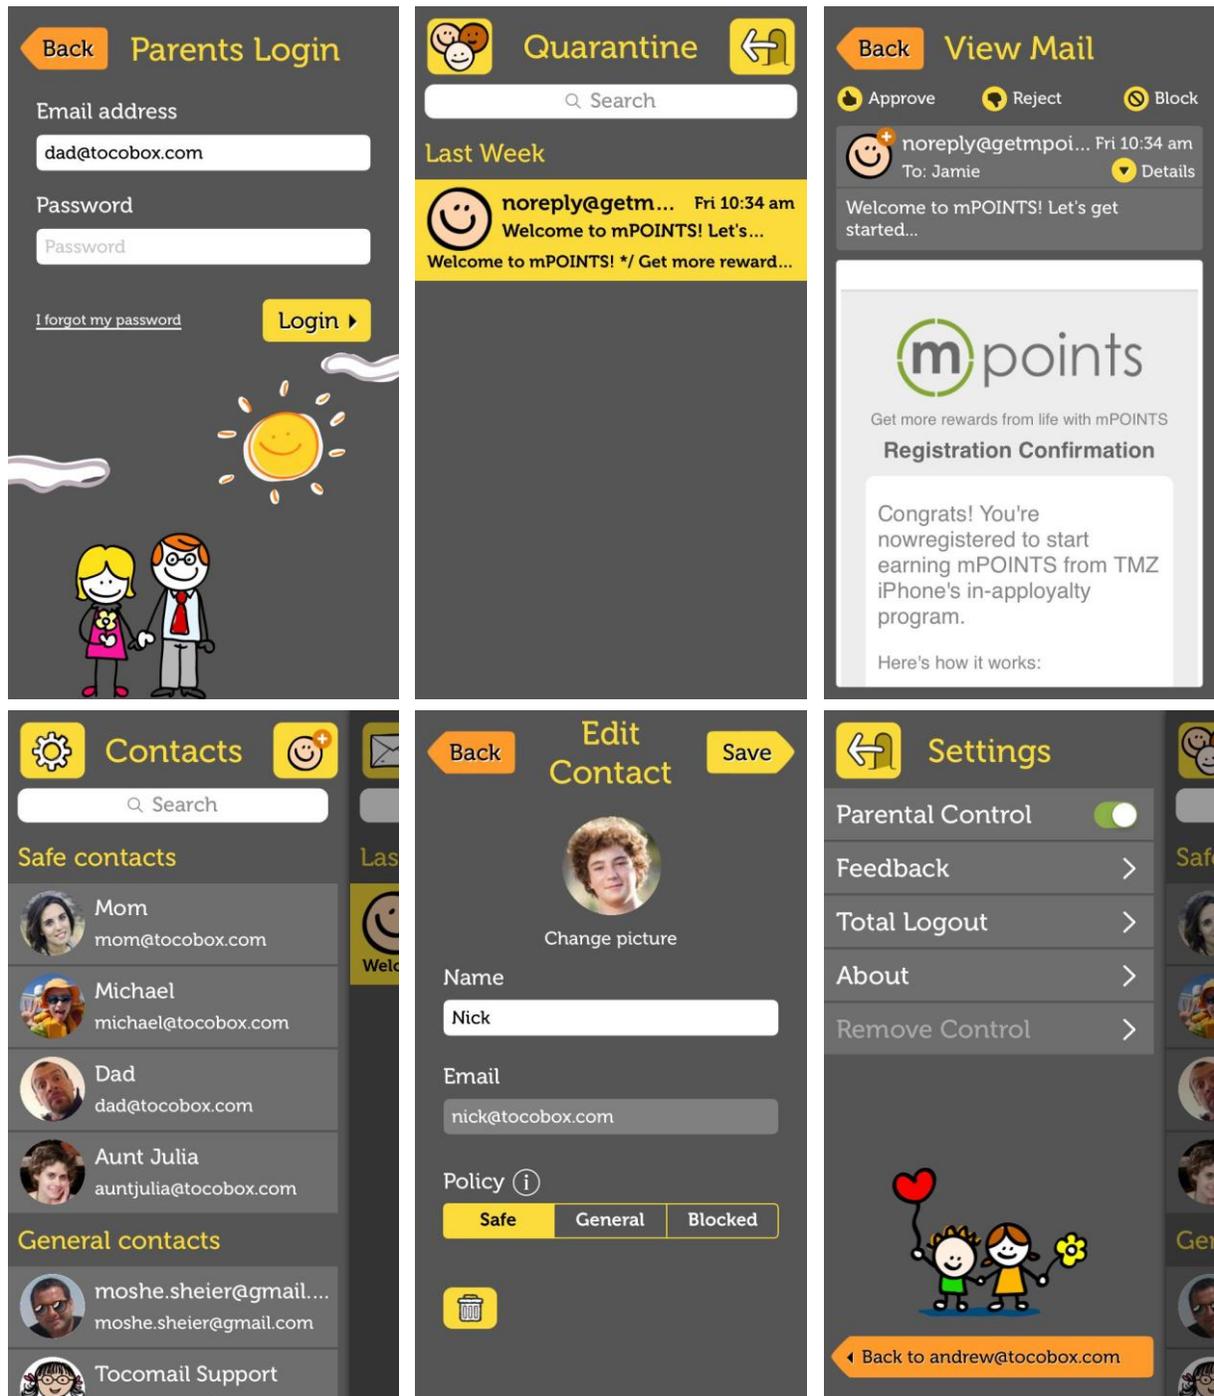

- Disable sounds in the app
- Lock mail with secure PIN
- Set email signature
- Invite friends
- Edit profile picture and name

There is also Parent Settings button which opens parental control part of the app or parental control purchase screen.

Parent controls

Parental control is done through a quarantine box and the enhanced contact list with Safe, General and Blocked categories of contacts. When parental control is “on” - communication with any contact outside the safe list can happen only after the parent has viewed and approved the email. Parent receive email notifications about quarantined emails and can to approve/reject them from the email notification.
